a thousand reasons to do DRAMA!

"There is almost nothing that cannot be achieved, when you have confidence."

At Prospero developing the confidence of each student is one of our most important aims!

There are plenty of successful people in all walks of life who attribute their achievements to taking part in drama in their early life. As well as confidence drama builds concentration, aspiration, focus, energy, listening, observation and team working skills. And most importantly it develops imagination. We can only achieve what we have first imagined.

A creative mind responds to the world imaginatively, appreciating both the arts and the vitality and diversity of life.
